

Preface

Dear Readers,

we are pleased to present this year's third issue of Avant. This collection of papers is composed mostly of English and Polish translations.

The first section is devoted to two eminent old Polish scholars: Jan Górski and Andrzej Lewicki. This part of the issue includes English translations of fragments of their classic works, as well as introductions to them. In the second section, we present two Polish translations of contemporary articles on cognitive ontologies; this part also includes introduction. A book review section rounds up the collection.
