

Preface

Dear Readers,

we are pleased to present this year's second issue of Avant, entitled "Enactivism: Arguments & Applications".

The main section is devoted to the dispute over what the essence of enactivism is, and what role it should play in research on cognition, as well as the applied side of enactivism. We present papers by Kenneth Aizawa, Pierre Steiner, Krystyna Bielecka, Fred Cummins, Qing Li, Ian Winchester, David A Reid, Ralph Ellis, Robert Briscoe, Jean-Luc Petit, Shaun Gallagher and Matthew Bower.

The issue also includes three interviews: with Shaun Gallagher, Robert D Rupert, and Robert Lemay, as well as book reviews by Patricia Grosse and Christopher Drain.
